

RESTAURANT & COFFEE EQUIPMENT · LOUISVILLE, KY

Prima Supply ships four brands from one screen

Prima Supply, a Louisville-based restaurant and coffee equipment supplier, operates across four divisions. As they expanded, managing shipments became complex — prompting them to seek a TMS that integrates with Brightpearl to enhance tracking, reduce customer inquiries, and streamline operations. This case study covers what changed once FreightPOP and Brightpearl were connected.

ABOUT

About the company

Prima Supply is a Louisville-based supplier of restaurant and coffee equipment, serving cafés, roasters, and food service operators across the country. The business runs as four distinct divisions, each with its own brand, customers, and carrier relationships.

Growth made that structure expensive to operate. Orders flowed through Brightpearl and BigCommerce, but shipping sat outside that stack — so every brand's freight was quoted, labeled, and tracked by hand, in a separate system.

THE OPERATING STACK

03

UPS & FedEx accounts

CONTEXT

Four divisions, one warehouse

Every order leaving the building had to be matched to the right brand, the right carrier account, and the right label — while customers called in for status updates the system couldn't surface. At peak season the same process needed extra labor to hold the line. Prima needed shipping to live inside the ERP, not beside it.

CHALLENGES & SOLUTIONS

The business challenges & FreightPOP solutions

BEFORE

01

Limited Tracking Visibility

Customers frequently called in about order status because the system had no automated tracking updates.

02

Lack of ERP Integration

Managing orders with multiple barcodes meant manual searches that slowed the whole floor down.

03

Shipping Errors & High Costs

With no brand-specific shipping rules, shipments were often processed under the wrong carrier account.

04

Manual Order Processing

The previous system required multiple manual searches and steps just to generate a shipping label.

05

Peak Season Bottlenecks

Higher order volumes led to fulfillment delays and additional labor, driving costs up further.

WITH FREIGHTPOP

01

Automated Shipment Tracking

FreightPOP's tracking script sits on Prima's website — customers enter an order number for real-time updates.

02

Optimized Order Processing

The FreightPOP–Brightpearl integration uses barcode scanning to locate and process orders instantly.

03

Brand-Specific Shipping Management

Each brand is linked to its own UPS or FedEx account — fewer errors, accurate cost allocation.

04

Faster Label Printing

Label generation is one step, so the warehouse team clears orders faster — especially in peak season.

05

Cost Optimization

Comparing carrier rates efficiently surfaced savings opportunities worth thousands in shipping spend.

BRIGHTPEARL SOLUTIONS

The ERP side of the story

01 Efficiency and Automation

Brightpearl's Automation Engine saved Prima Coffee an estimated two months per year by automating time-consuming manual processes — freeing the team to focus on growth.

02 Seamless Integration

Brightpearl integrated with BigCommerce from the start, giving Prima Coffee one hub for real-time data across every sales channel — and quicker, better decisions.

03 Fast Implementation

Brightpearl's implementation success rate is 97%, with most customers live in 120 days or less. Prima went live in 90 days — in time for the critical holiday season.

IN THEIR WORDS

“Brightpearl is the brains of our entire operation — it knows our inventory levels and sales velocity. All that information is seamlessly updated across all our systems throughout the day.”

Michael Miller · Data and Integration Manager, Prima Coffee
